

Child-friendly games about Child Safeguarding

Asmae-Association Sœur Emmanuelle is an organisation which has its HQ in France, with a presence in around ten countries and territories. For more than 40 years, their teams have been working to protect the most vulnerable children and youth.

Asmae also seeks to promote a healthy and protective working environment for its staff, collaborators and the people supported by its interventions. For this purpose, Asmae has developed protection and safeguarding policies and works every day to make them more accessible to all, especially to younger audiences.

Madagascar Asmae teams have developed two child-friendly, participatory and educational tools: The Rights Game and Sary Fetsy. Using these tools, children are taught about their rights and made aware of protection risks and how to protect themselves.

Discover these tools in action in these two videos: The Rights Game and Sary Fetsy.
